

VISITOR'S BADGE
NEEDS:

Lawyer

Can visit the human rights defender in the Detention Centre.

You are a human rights lawyer with experience in handling cases of wrongful detention, and have collaborated in the past with the HRD and their organization.

INFORMATION

As soon as you receive the emergency alert, your task is to visit the human rights defender in detention. You need to establish connection with them in order to verify their detention, as well as to agree on a legal course of action for their release. For proof of this you will need to locate the Warden at the local police station and obtain a visitors' badge.

This will not be easy: the officer will make it as difficult as possible. If you want to retrieve the visitors' badge you will need to prepare ahead of time. Ensure you note down important personal information about the human rights defender and what you know about the circumstances of their disappearance, so that you are able to negotiate to obtain the visitors' badge.

The Warden will be wearing a name tag and there will be a sign advertising the detention centre.

Negotiate to get a visitors badge. Once you have this you can reconvene with the other responders in your team and bring evidence of each task to the Game Masters.
